R. Q. Lawing, Jr.

"Sound Off For Agriculture" Award Winner

R. Q. Lawing, Jr., vocational agriculture teacher in the Buckingham Junior High School at Dillwyn, has been notified by Sam Sennzel, NVATA Executive Director, that he is one of six regional winners for the 1978 "Sound Off For Agriculture" award. The award recognizes vocational agriculture teachers who promote agriculture to the non-farm community through public relations activities in conjunction with American Agriculture Day. The awards are sponsored by Elanco Products Company, Indianapolis, Indiana in cooperation with the National Vocational Agricultural Teachers' Association (NVATA), Lincoln, Nebraska.

Problems facing the agricultural industry are important. Agriculture is everybody's business. "Agriculture Day" was conceived in 1972 by midwestern publishing executives who recognized a need for better dissemination of facts about agriculture among urban consumers. It provided an opportunity to tell how ranchers, farmers and growers contribute to America's strength and well-being. "Agriculture Day" has become a national event.

The vocational agriculture teacher was selected as a vital local link in promoting the national recognition day for agriculture. They promote agriculture in the local school and community through various classroom and FFA programs, activities and contests. The key to winning the "Sound Off For Agriculture" award is that a public relations program must be conducted within the week of "Agriculture Day". It must be directed to the urban people within the community, not those in the agricultural populace.

Lawing will receive an engraved plaque and an expense paid trip to the 30th annual convention of the NVATA to be held December 2-5 Dallas, Texas.

Wrong Word

Little Louise--Mother dear, what does dehydrate mean?

Mother--It means getting all the water out of anything. Why?

Little Louise--Well, my puppy just dehydrated in the living room.

Dumb Bell

He (calling from house)--Take a glance at the gas, will you Mabel?

Mabel--The indicator says half, but I don't know if it means half full or half empty.

RECIPE

By Sarah Ann Sheridan

If your family has a "sweet tooth" we have found this Lemon Cake recipe makes a big hit at our house. The lemon juice and rind added to the cake blends with the frosting to give it just the right tangy lemon flavor.

Lemon Cake

¼ c butter
½ c shortening
2 c sugar
3 eggs
3 c all-purpose flour
½ t salt
½ t soda
1 c buttermilk
1 t vanilla
1 t lemon juice
1 t lemon rind

Cream butter, shortening and sugar. Add eggs one at a time. Next fold in flour that has been sifted with salt and soda. Lastly, add buttermilk, vanilla, lemon juice and rind.

Pour batter into a tube pan which has been greased and floured. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Frosting

Melt ½ stick butter. Add 1 cup powdered sugar and juice while it's still hot

Living

Living is a thing we all must do,
Whether we be old or young.
I think the best way to live is to love
Many things while here below.
Love your home and love your work,
And love some one more than all,
And in loving these few things right
Your life will be a success.
But love not your self nor your work
With such great pride and delight
That you cannot look above and beyond
And see the need of love and light.
